

University of California
San Francisco

advancing health worldwide™

CHIEF OF OPHTHALMOLOGY

San Francisco General Hospital,
San Francisco

The San Francisco General Hospital (SFGH) and the University of California San Francisco (UCSF) are seeking an Ophthalmologist for the position of Chief, Ophthalmology Service at the SFGH. This individual will be responsible for administration of the Ophthalmology service at SFGH, which includes medical student education, resident and fellow supervision, patient care, surgery, and financial oversight of the Ophthalmology service. The individual will direct the service's vision research program.

Candidates must have a distinguished record of excellence in clinical care, teaching, and research, and it is expected that successful programs at SFGH will be advanced in all three areas. Candidates should demonstrate skill and experience in administration and leadership. Exceptional anterior segment surgical clinical and teaching skills are a strong asset.

REQUIRES: CA license or eligible for licensure, Board Certification in Ophthalmology (ABO) or eligible. Rank and salary commensurate with experience. Submit CV, a letter of interest and a list of references to:

Elena Fuentes-Afflick, MD, MPH
Chair, SFGH Chief of Ophthalmology Search Committee
C/o Shanna Travis
UCSF Department of Ophthalmology
10 Koret Way, K-304, San Francisco, CA 9413
TravisS@vision.ucsf.edu

The San Francisco General Hospital and the University of California San Francisco are Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employers. All qualified applicants are encouraged to apply, including (veterans), women and minorities.